India is home to almost 730 different tribes designated as scheduled tribes besides several denotified and nomadic tribes. They constitute almost 8.6% of India's population. Terms such as forest dwellers (vanawasi) hill people (girijan) and Adivasis (indigenous population) are often used to describe the tribal population. India has a variety of tribal cultures having different historical experiences and facing different political realities ranging from Banjaras, tribes of North West, North East, to Adivasis of Central India to isolated tribal groups like that of the Andamanese.

The study of tribal groups in India is an important field of historical research. Often they are neglected in mainstream history. A lot of attention was given to ethnographic studies during the colonial period when the British were trying to deal with tribal resistance. Many subaltern historians too have done commendable work in understanding tribal societies from a historical perspective.

We invite our student researchers to explore the rich history of different tribes of India

- ◆ Students can participate individually or as team.
- ◆ Maximum 4 participants per team.
- ◆ Student presenters will be provided with breakfast and lunch.
- ◆ Participants will be awarded a certificate of presentation.

The best papers at each session will be awarded prizes.

Suggested Topics

- ◆ Tribes during ancient India
- ◆ Tribes during medieval India
- ◆ Economic role in pre-colonial period
- ◆ Impact of British legislations on tribal communities
- ◆ Tribal resistance during colonial period
- ◆ Ethnic conflicts in post - independence India
- ◆ Impact of interaction with outside cultures
- ◆ Nomadic tribes
- ◆ Tribes of various parts of India (North, northeast, Northwest, Central India, South India)
- ◆ Tribal history and reflections in literature
- ◆ Representation of tribes in popular culture
- ◆ Tribals and ecological conservation

Report

A. Programme Objectives:

To enable students to undertake research on the theme of tribal history of India.

To use historical research methodology and improve their research skills

B. Process

The Department of History organised its annual intercollegiate students research seminar on February 8, 2024. The theme of the seminar was 'Tribes of India - A Historical Perspective'. The keynote address of the seminar was delivered by Dr. Narayan Bhosale, Chairperson History and Archaeology Department, University of Mumbai and eminent expert in the field of tribal studies. He spoke about the biases in our approach towards tribals and the situation of nomadic tribes in India.

The aim of the seminar was to encourage students to explore the history of tribals in India. The students were encouraged to develop and hone their research skills and understand the fundamentals of research methodology.

Students from various colleges of Mumbai namely Wilson, Somaiya, Ratnam, Raheja, Guru Nanak, Khalsa as well as R.J. College, presented 13 well researched papers at the research seminar on various topics connected to the theme. The paper presentations were judged by Dr. Madhumita Bandyopadhyay, Associate Professor in History from Smt.P.N.Doshi, Women's College of Arts, Ghatkopar. Dr. Himanshu Dawda, Principal, graced the occasion and felicitated the guests.

The winners were as follows:

First prize: Serena Nunes, Ankita Devda, Viren Gawali, Shreya Patil from Somaiya College
