REPORT

- The first activity undertaken by the Department of Biotechnology for the academic year 2021-22 is to conduct a Value added course on 'Fermented Food and Beverages' (RJBTC03).
- The course was open to students of RJ College who have enrolled for undergraduate program, post graduate program, PG Diploma programs and teaching faculty from Arts, Science and commerce streams.
- Google form was floated using whatsapp for registration. The total number of students registered for the course was 158.
- The LMS used was google classroom
- The course commenced on 21st June and concluded on 5th July 2021.
- The syllabus included Principle, method for preparation, and sensory evaluation of fermented beverages like Wine, Organic vinegar, Kombucha and Soya sauce. It also included fermented pickles like Kimchi and Sauerkraut which were covered in great detail. Bread and confectioneries was a part of fermented food too whose basic principle, preparatory methods and sensory evaluation were taught.
- The sessions were taken by the Faculties of Biotechnology daily for duration of 2hrs. The teachers who convened the sessions were Dr. Sucheta Golwalkar (Organic Vinegar), Dr. Rachana Acharya (Wine), Dr. Tania Karipel (Bread and confectioneries), Prof. Saleha Khan (Soya sauce), Dr. Namrata Satam (Kombucha), Prof. Smita Jadhav (Sauerkraut) and Prof. Jasvinder Kaushal (Kimchi).
- The students were assessed using MCQ Google forms for all these sessions. They were also graded by giving them hands on practicals/Do it yourself work. The evaluation was divided into theory as well as practicals which were graded as 60 and 40 marks respectively.
- The sessions were very interactive as the participants resolved all queries and doubts. They wholeheartedly appreciated the course during the valedictory function.
- Total of 88 students successfully completed the Value added course On Fermented Food and Beverages.
