On the occasion of Teacher's day, the department of Mathematics organized sessions for mentors and mentees. The purpose of these sessions is to have interaction regarding various aspects like mental health, physical health, goal and career opportunities, etc. There were two sessions each for FYBSc and SYBSc students. The first session was conducted in FYBSc class from 06:45 am to 07:35 am followed by SYBSc class from 07:35 am to 08:25 am. During these sessions, the mentor interacted with students on Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats. Students were asked to open up and speak about their career goals and what they want to be in the future and accordingly informed them to identify Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats to pursue their career goals. Students were also asked to collect required information about their career prospects and higher education opportunities from different sources like newspapers, experts, websites, and so on. The discussion also focused on what approach is required by the students in this competitive world for achieving career goals. It was found that several students have decided on their career goals. Further, mentors informed mentees about the availability of a full-time students' counselor, who provides one-on-one emotional guidance and helps students plan for their futures by guiding them in building a career and succeeding academically and socially. The sessions were very much appreciated by both students and teachers.
