RJC Popular Lecture Series 16:

Crisis, Solitude and Imaginative Responsibility

Kanchana Mahadevan is Professor at the Department of Philosophy, University of Mumbai.

She teaches and researches in the areas of feminist philosophy, decolonization, critical theory and political thought. She also works in interdisciplinary areas such as aesthetics and film to explore methodological perspectives. Her book Between Femininity and Feminism: Colonial and Postcolonial Perspectives on Care (published by the Indian Council of Philosophical Research in collaboration with DK Printworld New Delhi in 2014) examines the relevance of Western feminist philosophy in the Indian context. She is currently researching on the relationship between the secular and the postsecular in the context of gender.

REPORT

Dr. Kanchana Mahadevan gave a philosophical insight to the covid-19 crisis. She gave various definitions of crisis as given by various writers. She correlated the covid-19 crisis with what has been depicted in the film Contagion in which people are isolated distancing from each other. It also shows how people recover from pandemics after undergoing quarantines. Her entire talk focused on looking at Covid-19 as a crisis which we will tide over by following the protocols. Dr. Rina Pitale thanked Dr. Kanchana Mahadevan for her excellent talk.
