Content of session :

On 16 July, 2018, a seminar on E-waste management was organized by the Department of information Technology for spreading awareness about the emerging problem of e-waste among students and staff members. The session was conducted by Mrs. Rashmi Joshi, Joint Secretary, ECOROX. She is a social activist and has been conducting many such programs and events in various educational institutes, housing societies.

Students from different departments like Computer Science, Botany and IT attended the seminar. During the session, Mrs Joshi discussed the problem of e-waste, its hazardous impact if this waste is not handled properly and the solutions to manage it effectively with students in an interactive way. It was a fruitful session and all the present members definitely benefited from this discussion.

Conclusion: All present members were encouraged to spread the awareness and collect all e-waste in and around their homes, societies, institutes and be a part of this drive for environmental cause
