REPORT

The department of Botany organised a Departmental Fest 'Botanica' for holistic development of a student. The fest starts with a inaugural session wherein an academican or scientist of repute is invited to give an overview of emerging trend. Students are allotted projects which is a group project consisting of individual projects to be done by that particular student. They do research on the project, compile the data and present it as a team project under one umbrella. The main outcome of this is students learn by doing, develop skills of writing, learn communications when they present their project further they also popularise science education because the projects are visited by school children where the student who has done the project explains in details about the project to the visitor in English, Hindi and or Marathi.
