CV of the Speaker

Ms. Kumud Mishra

Ms. Kumud Mishra did her M.Sc. in nuclear physics from UDP in the year 1998. Subsequently, she did B. Ed. from Gurnanak college and has been teaching in R. J. Jr college since 2001.

Apni Pathshala - On a Crusade against Addiction and Illiteracy

Always having harboured a special place for underprivileged kids, Kumud Mishra, started a balwadi in an adivasi settlement in Mumbai Suburbs 9 years back for tribal, slum and drug affected kids. The first six months went in understanding the underlying problems associated with sending kids to school in the area. With focus on meeting the needs of education, food and rehabilitation.

The initiative which started 9 years ago was rechristened as Apni Pathshala. Today teaching over 100 students she is catering to the educational needs of more than 150 kids in the age group 3 to 16 yrs. With support of many well wishers, Apni Pathshala takes care of children's education, sponsors the same, provides for Midday meals, arranges admission and further schooling in BMC and also different private schools, who have come forward in support of Apni Pathshala.

In this talk, Kumud Mishra will talk about her journey along this less travelled road and the struggles and challenges she faced en route.

Report

It was a highly motivating talk; one cannot imagine how much and to what extent one person (like the Guest Speaker Ms. Kumud Mishra) can work for suppressed and down-trodden. Ms. Mishra is actively working in four selected tribal plus slum regions in and around Mumbai with children from age 03 to 16 years old. She provides one complete meal per day and education to these children. Initially she started working all alone, fighting with drug mafias and local liquor shop owners. Her programme included deaddiction also. But she found support of local people and regional police as well. Now she has 20 other teachers, local as well as outsiders, who teach and help her in Social Work. She developed this good-will among the people where she does the social work. In a way, she is a powerful social worker, social activist and social reformer. Now almost for 10 years she is actively working in these regions with the subalterns. Along with family duties, her teaching duties (she is Teacher in Physics in R. J. Junior College), she gives so much of her time, energy and money for this social work. The listeners were moved by her talk and turned emotional. Our salutations to Ms. Mishra for her commendable job. During lockdown in pandemic, she found support of her teacher colleagues, local police and people to continue with her social work. She herself was so serious while suffering Covid and she battled for her life; but as soon as she was back on her toes, she started working. Her journey into this social work provided motivation and inspiration to all present there.
