Beyond the Campus Environmental Promotional Activities

2020-2021

The Pandemic of 2020 has taken everyone on this Planet by surprise but it has also given a strong message as to how important every organism on this earth contributes to the well being of the earth. Our College always believed in promoting all activities for sustainable life style to ensure that each individual in their own way contribute to a clean and green planet. The lockdown did not deter our staff and students in promoting environmental promotional activities beyond campus few of them on site and most of them in virtual mode. A compilation of the activities is listed below:

Biodiversity of Sahyadri

This lecture is arranged in collaboration with ATBS on 1st August 2020. India is blessed with a number of mountain ranges, one among which is the Sahyadri range. Not only is it a mountain range providing protection against the vagaries of Nature but is also one of the areas having a high level of Biodiversity, whether in terms of flora or fauna, and some of which are endemic to these areas. The lecture will help the audience have a glimpse of the vast rich biodiversity abundant in the Sahyadri. The area has in recent times been subjected to over-exploitation of natural resources due to the human greed and hence the need for their conservation. The session would remain open for the students and the staff and will also be streamed live on You Tube.

BEYOND THE CAMPUS ENVIRONMENTAL PROMOTIONAL ACTIVITY

STATUS OF FOREST AND WILDLIFE AND IMPACT ON CLIMATE CHANGE

The speaker described the natural wealth of mother earth as the most astonishing gift of God to mankind but but also stated how we humans with ever increasing population are only dividing our shares among ourselves at the cost of leaving less than their share for the other species. He gave an overview of Forest wealth of India, their types, their distribution their characteristics and described their diversity. He also dealt with the wild life protection act and shared his views as to how it can be used to protect our wildlife species at Natural Parks, Wildlife sanctuaries, community reserve, tiger reserves and Elephant reserves. He gave a message to all that forest is a community property resource and therefore all of us are required to contribute to the survival and longevity of wildlife harboured by the forest ecosystem. Nature teaches us to live in harmony of each other and we as the evolved species should use our intellectual and power for the protection and not perishing of the wildlife wealth which we are very proud of us as Indians. The session was open for general public

REPORT OF THE LECTURE UNDER R J C LECTURE SERIES PROMOTION OF ENVIRONMENT AWARENESS BEYOND CAMPUS

A talk on 'Virtual trek to Valley of flowers' & 'Sri Hemkund Saheb' was conducted by Dr. Suchandra Dutta alongwith her two research students- Mr. Kiran Chakral and Mr. Hensal Rodrigues, online on Zoom Platform on 24th July, 2020.

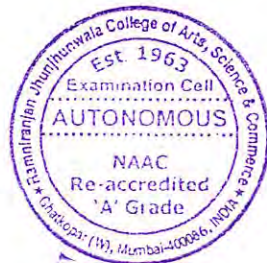

Dr. Himanshu Dawda welcomed the audience and Dr Nisha Muni gave a brief introduction of the eminent Guest speaker to the audience. Dr. Suchandra Dutta, in turn, introduced her two research students and invited them to give a talk.

Mr. Kiran Chakral gave a brief introduction, significance and the expanse of the Valley of flowers and the Sri. Hemkund Saheb. Through his talk, graphic presentation about the route of the trek and the voluminous variety of the photographs about the biodiversity he took the audience on a virtual trek to the Valley of flowers. For the benefit of the audience, the photographs were very nicely labelled with their scientific names.

Mr. Hensal Rodrigues took over from Mr. Kiran, gave a talk and also took the audience on a virtual tour to Sri. Hemkund Saheb, which was a visual treat to the eyes.

Not only was the presentation in terms of photographs mesmerising but it was also loaded with a good amount of information. At the end he talked about the need for conservation of such an area as it being a tourist spot, many a times the plants are harmed intentionally or unintentionally. He also put across his thought on popularisation of the various plants wherein they can be cultivated on a large scale so that these plants are not protected but are also utilised to obtain economic gains to the locals. Botanical trails could also be popularised involving the locals. The entire experience was a visual treat. The session was open for general public
